Serbia scrambles MiG-29 due to UFO near Belgrade

The duty pair of MiG-29s in Serbia was raised. This was reported in the Serbian newspaper KURIR.

“Based on the order of the President of the Republic and Commander-in-Chief of the Serbian Armed Forces Aleksandar Vucic, a pair of MiG-29 fighters were put on duty,” the publication reported. It is noted that the fighters were scrambled due to an unidentified aircraft over the city of Valjevo, 100 km from Belgrade.

When the fighters were aiming at the interception zone, the target was lost due to the reflection of radar indicators. The fighters continued their flight and searched the area to confirm the situation, after which they returned to their home airfield.
